

SOUTHEND Young Girls

Still Undefeated In Akron.

Close Game Against North End Saturday.

The Match Pool Games Continue Unfinished.

Ruhlin's Friends Lose No Time In Deserting Him.

The South End Athletic club defeated the North End Athletic club on Buchtel grounds, Saturday, after the fastest and most interesting game seen there this season. Twenty minute halves were played and the fact that only 30 seconds' time was taken out in the first half, and but five minutes in the second, testify to the superb condition of the players, and both teams finished the game with the same players they started with. The field was very slippery and end-runs were out of the question. Both teams played a good defensive game, but were weak on offense, on account of the poor footing. The only score was a touchdown, after 9½ minutes, in the first half by Chamberlain, who made a great pickup of the ball after a fumble by the North Ends, and having a clear field planted the ball behind the North End goal. After that the fumbles were few, and the teams were as evenly matched as would be possible to find, and it was a continual see saw with the ball, now in North End's and then in South End's possession. Chamberlain's punts were all short ones, but were, with one exception, muffed by the North Ends. Boyd was easily the star of the South Ends and he often got through the line like a hawk and tackled a North End runner for a loss. This was especially true during the last half when the North Ends, by heroic line plunging, carried the ball to the South End's 25-yard line, only to lose it on downs. Hardy, Cassidy, Dietz, Doonan and Nelson played good ball, and the North End line was considerably stronger than that which confronted the Planets last Saturday. The North Ends delayed the game by their late arrival and Parker kicked goal off to Washer, at 3:40, who returned it 10 yards. After two tries, Chamberlain punted and North End began to try their superior weight against the South End line. They could make no headway, however, and after North End was given 10 yards for offense, they again tried mass plays against the tackles. On the third attempt, a disastrous fumble occurred, and Chamberlain was after the ball like a flash, and picking it up, had a clear field for a touchdown, amid the cheers of the South End rooters. He kicked an easy goal. South End 6—North End 0.

Boyd returned Parker's kick 20 yards before hitting the mud. Moore made three yards and then North End got the ball on a fumble. South End held for downs and was forced to punt. It was a short one and on the line up, Cassidy made three yards through left tackle, but Hardy was forced to punt, and Chamberlain made a great run, back, for 20 yards. Then Washer made the longest gain of the day. He got past Doonan and made 25 yards before being downed. Hardy tackled Moore for a 5-yard loss. Stephens made two through the center, and Chamberlain punted to Hardy on North End's 35-yard line. Dietz made 10 yards on a tandem buck, and Cassidy 10 yards around right end. End of first half with North End ball, on their 25-yard line.

The second half was a repetition of the first, and it was nip and tuck, with not more than 30 yards either way from the center of the field. The North Ends rushed the ball 25 yards from the kick-off and seemed in a fair way to score, with the ball on the South End's 30-yard line but the heavy line bucking told on them and South End boys held for downs, with five minutes to play. It was growing dark, but neither team could make material headway, and time was called with North End in possession of the pigskin on their 30-yard line.

The line up was as follows:

| South Ends | North Ends |
|------------|-------------|
| Young | Moore |
| Deliz | Yerrick |
| Kaugh | Ross |
| Parker | Smotta |
| Donan | Washer |
| Beduhr | Roth |
| Fin | Smith |
| Cassidy | Chamberlain |
| Hardy | Stephens |
| Hayes | Colly |
| Nelan | Edwards |

Are often engaged in doing the work of a home under the most trying conditions. Nature cries out against the stooping and lifting, the running up and down stairs at times when labor should be as light as possible. It is owing to overstrain of self-neglect under these conditions that the foundation is laid for serious womanly disease. Irregularity is the first step to impaired womanly health. Perfect regularity may be established by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will heal inflammation and ulceration and cure female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"It gives me much pleasure," writes Miss Ella Sapp of Jamestown, Guilford County, N. C. "to thank Dr. Pierce for the great good received from the use of his Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. I had suffered for three years or more at monthly periods. It seemed as though I would die with pain in my back and stomach. I could not stand at all without fainting. I had given up all hope of ever being well when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better. Now I have taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I am entirely cured, and in two months' time when all other medicines had failed."

WHAT IT MEANS.
The evenness of the game between the North Ends and the South Ends, Saturday, makes the prospect of a game between the South Ends and the Planets, for Thanksgiving, of especial interest to Akron players. It means that the claim of the Planets, who attributed their easy defeat by the South Ends, some weeks ago, to the fact that they were sore and out of condition at the time, may amount to something. No matter who the winners of the Thanksgiving game may be, there is a certainty that there will be some excellent foot ball, and the crowd will doubtless be the biggest of the season. South Ends have now defeated every team in the city, with whom they have played, and the latter team makes the claim that they were not in condition at the time of their defeat.

The season in Akron has brought out many good foot ball games, and the excellence of the sport has given the game a firmer hold than ever, on the affections of Akron sports. NORTH ENDS TO CANTON.
The North Ends will go to Canton, Sunday, and play a third game against the Canton team. Each of the eleven has a game to its credit, and the third will be the deciding contest. If the treatment accorded the North End team Sunday is no fairer than it was the last time the team went to Canton, it may be predicted that the contest will result in a victory for the Canton team.

Akron audiences have been criticised for being too patriotic, and mixing too promiscuously in the progress of foot ball games, but, according to all reports, they have never gone as far as the Canton audience is said to have done a few weeks ago. Canton has a strong team, but the ease with which it was defeated here, makes it plain that they can be beaten by the North Ends, in a fair trial.

AMERICANS SNOWED UNDER.
The Shelby team easily made good its claim to the amateur championship of the State, against the American Athletic club, of Cleveland, Saturday.

defeating them by a score of 37 to 0. There was an arrangement between the South Ends and the Americans, by which a game was to have been played, provided the Americans defeated the Shelby. Now that it has been demonstrated that the Americans and the Shelby are not in the same class, the South Ends will not be so anxious to meet them.

POOL MATCH UNFINISHED.

The progress of the match game of pool, between Messrs. Cohen and King, to determine who shall play against Met Hard for the city and county championship, has been delayed of late on account of the non-appearance of King. Cohen still maintains a lead of 30 balls, with two nights' playing still necessary to finish the match. The contest will be finished immediately on the appearance of King. The proposition made by Jack Carroll, who now resides at Barber-ton, and who proposed a match game of pool for $100 a side, has not been accepted by any of the local players.

THIS WEEK'S GAMES.

The progress of the Grand Alley Bowling League has been interesting and the members of the League play their games for the alley championship, in all seriousness. The following games will be played on the Grand alleys this week:

Monday night—Grands vs. Dagues and Maroons vs. Columbias; Tuesday night—Summits vs. Maroons; Thursday night—Akrona vs. Grands and Aemes vs. Kents; Friday night—Ultras vs. Maroons.

The management of the Grand alleys has also offered a list of prizes for the best games rolled on the alleys between now and Thanksgiving. None of the games of the tournament will count in the contest for the prizes.

Ruhlin's former supporters and admirers have left him with an alacrity that has been almost startling. The fact that he has fought good battles, that he made Tom Sharkey look like a last year's bird's nest (a feat Jeffries was unable to accomplish in two trials), has had no effect on the mass of fight followers and they can find nothing harsh enough to say about Ruhlin. While it is not probable that he will retire from the ring, it is certain that he will have trouble in getting matches before almost any of the clubs, and he will have to fight a good many hard fights, in order to reinstate himself, in the estimation of the sports of the country.

BOWSER AND BOTANY

HE TAKES UP THE STUDY OF FLOWERS AND PLANTS.

The Matter Was Dropped Very Soon. However, Owing to a Lively Experience the Botanist Had While After Knowledge in the Suburbs.

(Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.)
When Mr. Bowser reached home the other evening, he was so deeply interested in a book in his hand that he almost passed his own gate, and when Mrs. Bowser expressed her curiosity he absently explained:

"It is a book on botany, and I haven't been so interested for years."

During the dinner hour he consulted the book at intervals and seemed lost to his surroundings, and it was not until they had finished that he aroused himself and said:

"Mrs. Bowser, you know what mayweed is, of course? It is to be found along all the highways in the northern states."

"Yes, I know," she replied.
"What sort of a plant is it?"
"Why, it's mayweed."

"I should have answered the same way three hours ago, but I know better now. This little book on botany has been putting me up. Mrs. Bowser, mayweed is a composite plant, and the Latin name for it is Maruta cotula.

"Well, what of it?" she asked.
"What of it? Why, for the first time in your life you know what mayweed is. In future when you hear anybody talking about Maruta cotula you'll know they mean mayweed instead of cornmeal. You have been familiar with horse radish for years, but do you know what sort of a plant it is?"

"Ab-um! Mrs. Bowser, let me inform you that horse radish is a plant of the genus nasturtium, having a root of pungent taste. It's a wonder the grocer hasn't tried to make you believe that string beans were horse radish. There is a common weed along the highways generally called horseweed. Do you know anything about it?"

"Why should I care to?" she asked.
"In order to add to your knowledge. Horseweed, as I take pleasure in informing you, is a composite plant of the species Erigeron canadense, and if you will impress it upon your memory you won't get it mixed up with peanut shucks or popcorn. Let me ask what you know about catnip."
"Are you going to take this thing up as a fad?"
"Woman, I have no fads, as you well know," he replied, with great dignity. "I simply desire to know all about things and add to my stock of knowledge. If you weren't as obstinate as a mule, you'd be glad to pick up this study with me. Catnip is a plant of strong scent and belongs to the species

"To the species cat," she interrupted.
Mr. Bowser glared at her over his spectacles, and his face grew red as paint. The cat, which sat looking up at him and feeling anxious to hear all about catnip, hoped there would be no row, and there was none. Choking back his anger, he quietly observed:

"Very well, Mrs. Bowser. If you want to be a blockhead and an ignoramus, I have no objections. I am now going to walk out into the suburbs to study botany, and you can sit around home and make mud pies. If I should be late, you needn't sit up for me."
"If you'll wait until I can put my hat on, I'll go with you," she replied.
"But I don't want you. A woman who glories in the fact that she can't tell a burdock from a bullfrog would be no company for me."

Mr. Bowser had proceeded for half a mile before he struck a rich field. Then he came upon an old woman mending her cow on the commons, and as he called and held up to her a late dandelion he kindly observed:

"My good woman, you probably know that this flower belongs to the genus leontodon.
"Well, what if I do?" she surlily replied.
"It derives its name from lion or lion's tooth."
"And what of it?"
"Nothing in particular, but I should think you would be glad to know. Here is a burdock, but do you know to scuffing its way up to the steps, she quietly asked:

"Well, dear, did you find that pigweed belongs to the genus rooseofort and is an annual weed found in the gardens?"

Mr. Bowser leaned against the steps and looked at her and opened and shut his mouth.
"And the mushroom, you know," she continued—"It is one of a large class of cryptogamic plants of the natural order of fungi. Did you bring home a specimen?"

He drew himself part way up the what genus it belongs to."

"What do you want around here?" she asked as she looked at him in no friendly way.
"I am studying botany, madam," replied Mr. Bowser.

"And what's that?"
"The knowledge of plants and flowers. I assure you, madam."
"You go on, old man. If my husband catches you out here trying to flirt with me, he'll break your neck with one blow. You ought to be ashamed of yourself at your age."

"Trying to flirt with you?" he repeated as he gazed at her in astonishment.
"That's it, you say old fox, and you move on before Jimmy comes home. Your poor wife is probably at the wash tub while you are strolling around and trying to make a mash."

Mr. Bowser passed on. A block or two away he came upon a citizen smoking his pipe over his gate, and just there he also came across a generous bunch of smartweed. Culling a few stems, he advanced to the man and said:

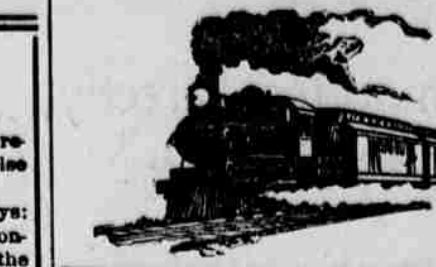

"I presume you know this to be smartweed?"
"If I didn't, I'd be a fool," was the reply.
"Do you know what genus it belongs to?"

"Mebbe I do or I don't, but don't try any tricks on me."
"It is a plant of the genus polygonum, so called on account of its acrimony. My friend, you ought to be posted on what is growing at your own door."

"And what business is it of yours?" demanded the man as he bristled up.
"Say, now, you'd better move on. I've had four geese stolen, and if you think to get another you'll find yourself in the hospital."

The man looked so threatening that Mr. Bowser didn't stop for further argument. He wandered on till he came to a lane running up to some sheds, and before him was a thistle as large as a bushel basket. He turned to the proper heading in his book and read to himself:
